A Day in the Bridgerton Era: the prompts

Every prompt I used to spend one day as a debutante in London, April 1813: laced into my stays, a carriage ride in Hyde Park, presented to the Queen, the ball, the first waltz and the gossip the next morning. Copy, paste, swap in your own face.

BEFORE YOU START

One day, one story

In my Paris and London videos I jumped through centuries. This time I stayed in one day and told a little story instead: morning, afternoon, night and the morning after. The calendar flips through the hours, not the years.

Same face in every shot, four outfits, six scenes, about 30 seconds. Everything was made in Higgsfield with Seedance 2.5, and edited with Claude Code.

WHAT YOU NEED

- A Higgsfield account with enough credits (my real costs are below).
- A plain character sheet of you: front, back and close-up, in simple clothes on a white background. This is your master reference.
- 4 to 6 photos of your face from different angles: front, three quarter, profile, full length. Natural light, no filters.
- An editor: CapCut, or Claude Code to stitch the clips and add the calendar and titles.

WHAT IT COST ME

4 outfit character sheets (GPT Image 2.5, 2K, high)	about 11 credits
First frame stills, including redos	about 40 credits
Five 5 second clips at 1080p (80 each)	400 credits
One 7 second clip at 1080p (the Queen)	112 credits
One clip I redid (my first Queen, 8 seconds)	128 credits

Two clips were stopped by a filter and refunded automatically, so they cost nothing. More on that on page 8.

THE FIVE STEPS

1. Plan the day as six moments where something happens.
2. Make character sheets: one plain sheet of you, then one per outfit.
3. Make a first frame for every scene and check it before paying for video.
4. Animate each scene from its first frame.
5. Edit: calendar, intro title, subtitles and music.

STEP 1

Plan the day as moments

Each scene needs something to happen in it, not just a pretty background. A maid pulls the laces. A gentleman tips his hat. The Queen says one word. You read the gossip and smirk.

8 am, getting ready

11 am, Hyde Park

2 pm, the Queen

10 pm, the ball

11 pm, the waltz

9 am, the morning after

TIME	WHAT HAPPENS ON CAMERA	OUTFIT
8 am	She holds the bedpost while her maid laces her stays, takes a sharp breath, then a determined smile.	Chemise and stays
11 am	Open carriage in Hyde Park. A gentleman on horseback lifts his top hat; she hides a smile behind her fan.	Duck egg blue spencer and bonnet
2 pm	A deep curtsey before the Queen. The Queen says "Flawless." She rises, glowing.	White and silver court gown, feathers
10 pm	She walks through the gilded doors into the ballroom and the guests turn to look.	Wisteria lilac ball gown
11 pm	A waltz, seen over his shoulder. The room spins; she breaks into a breathless smile.	Same ball gown
9 am	She reads the morning paper, lowers it slowly and smirks at camera.	White muslin day dress

Save credits: scenes 4 and 5 share one outfit, and scenes 2 and 6 share another. Four outfits covered six scenes.

Character sheets: you first

Start with a plain sheet of yourself, then make one sheet per outfit. In Higgsfield go to Images, pick GPT Image 2.5, quality high, resolution 2K, aspect ratio 16:9, and upload 3 photos of your face.

My plain sheet: the master reference

The ball gown sheet

Character reference sheet of the woman in the reference photos, dressed as [WHO SHE IS, WHERE AND WHEN, e.g. a young English lady of fashionable Mayfair society taking a carriage ride in Hyde Park in April 1813]. Keep her face EXACTLY as in the photos: [HAIR], [EYES], [LIPS], natural skin with real texture. Do not beautify, slim or change her face in any way. Costume, historically accurate for a Regency lady in 1813, in [ONE COLOUR PER OUTFIT]: [PASTE YOUR OUTFIT LINE]. Hair: her own [HAIR] hair [REGENCY UPDO, e.g. pinned up with soft curls framing her face and her fringe just visible].
Layout on a plain warm light grey studio background: on the left a large close-up portrait facing camera; in the middle a full length front view standing naturally; then a full length side view and a full length back view. Soft even studio light, photorealistic photography, natural proportions, real fabric texture. No text, no labels, no logos, no watermark.

MY OUTFIT LINES, READY TO PASTE

Stays	a long white linen chemise to the ankles with short sleeves and a gathered drawstring neckline, over it ivory cotton long stays laced up the back, white cotton stockings, flat ivory silk slippers
Day	a high waisted white muslin day dress, a short duck egg blue silk spencer jacket, a cream straw bonnet trimmed with duck egg blue ribbon and silk flowers, short white kid gloves, a small ivory fan
Court	a high waisted white silk satin court gown embroidered with silver thread, a long white satin train from the shoulders, long white kid gloves, pearls, three tall white ostrich feathers and a short lace veil
Ball	a high waisted ball gown of pale wisteria lilac silk with a sheer silver spangled net overlay, short puffed sleeves, a short train, long white gloves, a silver and amethyst necklace, a silver comb with lilac silk flowers

A first frame for every scene

Before any video, make a still of the opening moment. A still costs under 3 credits; a clip costs 80 or more. Fix the scene here, where it's cheap. Same settings as the sheets but 9:16, with the outfit sheet and two face photos as references.

Vertical 9:16 photoreal film still. The woman from Reference Image 1 (character sheet) with the face from Reference Images 2 and 3, exactly this face, not beautified, wearing exactly the costume from the character sheet: [SHORT OUTFIT LINE]. [PLACE AND DATE]. [THE SETTING: room, light, crowd]. [WHERE SHE IS AND WHAT SHE'S DOING AT THE START OF THE SCENE]. [WHERE THE CAMERA IS]. Only she has this face; every other person is clearly different, nobody dressed like her. Shot on ARRI Alexa 35 with vintage lenses, real depth of field, real fabric texture, natural proportions, five fingers. No text, no watermark.

THREE THINGS I HAD TO FIX AT THIS STAGE

- The crowd all had one face. Every man in the ballroom looked like the same person. Spell out a varied crowd: "every single person has a clearly different face: a portly grey haired man with side whiskers, a tall fair haired young man, a silver haired officer in a red coat…"
- A Bridgerton style cast. I asked for "an elegant, racially mixed high society crowd, every person with a clearly different face" and named a few guests: a Black couple waltzing in primrose yellow, a lady in a jewelled turban with feathers.
- The Queen. My first Queen was generic. The redo: "a regal older Black woman in her sixties, a towering, elaborately curled powdered silver grey wig, a jewelled crown set on top of the wig, large pearl earrings, an ermine trimmed mantle", seen over her shoulder.

> One look per scene: nobody else should wear your outfit's colour. My first ballroom shot had another lady in lilac and she looked like my twin. I added "no lilac or purple on anyone".

STEP 4

Animate the moment

Go to Videos and pick Seedance 2.5, omni reference mode, 1080p, 9:16, 5 seconds (7 or 8 for a scene with a pause), audio on.

REFERENCES, IN THIS ORDER

1. Start image: your approved first frame
2. Reference 1: the outfit character sheet
3. References 2 and 3: your plain character sheets
4. References 4 to 7: photos of your face: front, three quarter, profile, full length

Start exactly from the start frame and keep its composition, lighting and setting. CHARACTER: the woman from the start frame. Reference Image 1 is her costume sheet; Reference Images 2 and 3 are plain character sheets of her real face and body; Reference Images 4 to 7 are real photos of her face from the front, three quarter, profile and full length. Keep exactly this face in every frame:
[EYES], [HAIR], [ONE DISTINGUISHING DETAIL, e.g. the small mole on her cheek], natural skin with real texture, not beautified. She wears exactly the costume from Reference Image 1: [SHORT OUTFIT LINE].
ONLY she has this face; every other person is a clearly different person (mixed ages, builds, hair), nobody dressed like her.
MOMENT: [DATE], [WHAT IS HAPPENING IN ONE LINE].
SETTING: [ROOM, LIGHT, CROWD].
ACTION: [SECOND BY SECOND: what happens in front of her and how she reacts].
CAMERA: one continuous shot, [CAMERA MOVE], 9:16 vertical, never cuts. Shot on ARRI Alexa 35 with vintage lenses, real depth of field, real fabric physics, [LIGHT], photoreal, natural proportions, five fingers, no morphing.
AUDIO: [3 TO 5 SOUNDS FROM THE SCENE], no music, no speech to camera.

Say no to presets: Higgsfield sometimes suggests one of its presets for your prompt. I said no every time, because presets change the look and your scenes stop matching.

Mirror trick: for the lacing scene I put the camera "where the mirror would be", so I face the camera without the AI having to draw a reflection.

STEP 4

My Queen scene, word for word

The approved first frame

7 seconds, 112 credits. The one line of speech in the whole video. Put the words in quotes and ask for a pause before them.

MOMENT: April 1813, a young debutante is presented to the queen at court at the start of the London Season.
SETTING: a grand throne room with crimson damask walls, gilded mouldings, huge crystal chandeliers, afternoon light through tall windows; courtiers and debutantes in white with feathers line both sides of the room, watching.
ACTION: the young woman holds her deep, graceful curtsey with her head bowed, perfectly still; a long silent pause of about three seconds as the queen studies her; then the queen turns her head slightly, showing more of her profile, and says one word, "Flawless."; the young woman rises slowly with a radiant, barely held back smile, and the watching courtiers murmur to each other.
CAMERA: one continuous shot from beside the throne looking down the room at her, the queen soft in the foreground, a slow push in on the young woman's face as she rises, 9:16 vertical, never cuts.
AUDIO: silk rustling, a hushed room, a single cough, then after the pause the queen saying "Flawless." in a clear, rich, regal English voice, then courtiers murmuring, no music, no other speech.

Then trim it: the pause felt too long once the music was on, so I cut the first 2 seconds in the edit. The Queen now speaks half a second into her scene. Trimming is free; regenerating isn't.

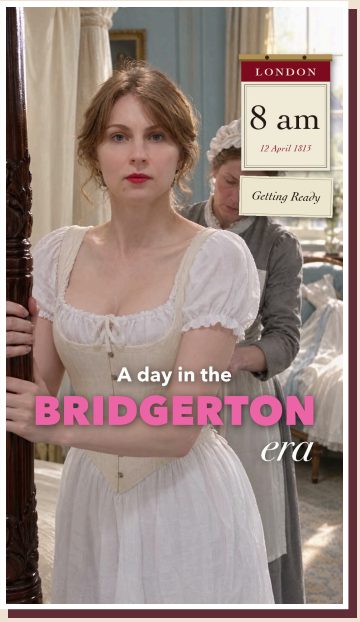

LEARN FROM MY REDOS

What went wrong, and the fix

1. Dreamina wouldn't use my face. I tried Dreamina (ByteDance's own Seedance app) because its credits are a little cheaper. Every clip with my real face was rejected by "risk control", even a fully dressed carriage ride. Real human faces aren't supported there, and there's no way to verify your own. Higgsfield accepted my face for every scene.
2. "IP detected" on the most Bridgerton looking shots. Two clips were stopped by Higgsfield's copyright filter and refunded: a first person view of a wisteria ballroom with a string quartet, and a woman reading a society gossip sheet over breakfast. I skipped the first and rewrote the second as "the morning newspaper" with no wisteria and no mention of the Season. It went straight through. Describe the look; don't recreate the show's famous scenes word for word.
3. My first Queen was too generic. I remade the first frame first (under 3 credits), approved it, then made the video. Always fix the still before you pay for the clip.
4. The line came too early, then too late. In the first version the Queen spoke 1.6 seconds in, before any pause. I asked for a 3 second pause in the redo, then trimmed it back in the edit until it felt right.
5. Check every frame. I pulled frames from each clip and checked the face, hands, extra people in my colour and the action. One scene in my outfit colour can make the whole video look off.

STEP 5

The edit: calendar, titles and sound

- Calendar: LONDON on a red header, the time big, the date in red italic, and a small tag naming the moment. One font only (Cochin). It flips at every cut and riffles through the night: 12 am, 3 am, 6 am.
- Keep it off your face: the card swaps sides between scenes.
- Intro: "A day in the BRIDGERTON era" with BRIDGERTON in pink.
- Subtitle: "Flawless." on screen as the Queen says it.
- Ending: "This Season's Diamond" over the smirk.

What I asked Claude Code:

Stitch the scene videos in order and keep their original sound. Add a vintage paper calendar in the top corner showing LONDON, the time of day, the date and the name of the moment, and flip it at every cut with a paper flip sound; riffle through the night before the last scene. Keep it away from my face. Add an intro title, a subtitle when the Queen speaks and a closing title over the last shot.

Music: add it in the Instagram editor and keep the clip sound at about 25% underneath. Try "Love Story" (Taylor Swift) with the chorus landing on the ballroom entrance, or "Diamonds" (Rihanna) landing on the final smirk.
